"Blacked Out"

Well how could I say goodbye?
I won't let you see that side
Dreams of yesterday have haunted my life
They bleed through the day and creep through the night

Blacked out, but not gone
Well sometimes we need love but don't want
We're blacked out but not gone
I see you walk away like the setting sun

I fell through the haze left by the sun
My eyes were glazed, my mind on the run
So I float away like birds when you come
'Cause the higher we climb the harder we fall

Blacked out, but not gone
Well sometimes we need love to hold on
