And thus the game started
The first signs of winter in the air
Surrounded by flatters and fools
The king's council, twisting and turning Arryn's death, the fall, the dagger
It all somehow seems to relate Shades of crimson, covering secrets I'll find out before it's too late Sing with me this song of fire and ice
Take my hand
In this deathly dance of wolves and lions
Only the gods know how this will end The words of a child opened our eyes
Always the gold yielding before the coal
Your fatal hunt, the wine so bitter Now have Lyanna welcome your soul By the bell that tolls for you my friend
I think I hear my curtain fall
Look what all this honour has given me What is right, what is wrong?
I've been fooled all along. Sing with me this song of fire and ice
Take my hand
In this deathly dance of wolves and lions
Only the gods know how this will end How the ancient thrones were placed in a game Daenerys Targaryen's?
Dragon eggs out of them they came Mirri Maz, Mythologian Kings of north, east, south, west
She, mother of dragons
She will take up the quest
And fight you with all weapons Sing with me this song of fire and ice
Take my hand
In this deathly dance of wolves and lions
Only the gods know how this will end.
