We'll wait for a given chance,
To figure out,
If we are worth the wait or just another fall.
Will we be different, with all this pressure?
Will we be able to pull it off?

We are, we are, were cool under pressure.
We are the sound of things getting better.
Have you ever seen anything more beautiful or bright,
Tonight is our chance to be something more.
Will we shake off our old skins or will we stay the way
we are?

We made it visible, when it was in everyone's face.
And on the tip of their tongue, we just gave it a name.
And we will stay graceful in acts of distress.
By overcoming this test
And letting you know how we feel through what we confess.

We are, we are, were cool under pressure.
We are the sound of things getting better.
Have you ever seen anything more beautiful or bright,
Tonight is our chance to be something more.
Will we shake off our old skins or will we stay the way
we are?

We are, we are, were cool under pressure.
We are the sound of things getting better.
Have you ever seen anything more beautiful or bright,
Tonight is our chance to be something more.
Will we shake off our old skins or will we stay the way
we are?
