Father, can you hear me?"
-- "Your God hears you Joshua, and makes you a slave of the Pharaoh! Come on!"

They say I've got no right to question life without hope

Or ask for anything more than to suffer and bleed at the end of a rope

They say I've got no right to look them in the eye

That I belong in the dust at their feet but one day for sure, I'm gonna die

Is anybody listenin'?
Does anybody hear?

Does anybody out there see us drowning in our tears?

Is our future written on a sky of cold stone?

God, if you're listenin', let us know
God if you're listenin', let us know

They teach us to believe we're not strong like them

That we don't have the will to crush these walls that hold us in

They try and make us think that we'll never have a chance

Can I fight for my own freedom with only these two hands?

Is anybody listenin'?

Does anybody hear?

Does anybody out there
see us struggling with our fear?

Is our future written
on a sky of cold stone?

If you're listenin', let us know
God, if you're listenin', let us know

You can tie a rock to my soul

But you can't build a prison for my mind, no

You can chain my body to the earth

But still the spirit flies
My spirit flies

Does anybody out there see us drowning in our fear?

Will our hopes die slowly in the heat of the desert sun?

God if you hear us
send us someone

God if you hear us send someone

Is anybody listenin'?
