

Adelayda "Everyday Has Dawn"

Visit "Everyday Has Dawn" on MotoLyrics.com

Why you, why now? Be with me somehow. It's too much too soon.

I've still got a fresh wound, and it's safe to say tomorrow's another day. And then you can see all that's left here is me.

Still right, so wrong. I've waited so long. For something, anything, but every angel has wings. And it's safe to say mine just flew away.

Now you can see all that's left here is me.

(Chorus:) Standing tall, I still breathe. My heart is nailed to your sleeve. Hurt, but living I'll go on. And everyday has its dawn.

I come down today to face my pain. It's all locked up in you.

I'm tattered, torn, and I'm blue. And it's safe to say tomorrow's another day. And then you will see all that's left here is me.

Never thought you'd ever say goodbye. Never thought you'd spread your wings and fly. Never thought we'd have so little time. Never thought these bandages would dry.

Visit Adelayda page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.