One bite of your world is enough to spit it out
One bite is enough to make me sick
First I despised you now I pity you
You're truly a slave to what you own
Your whole life is based on wealth
It's not difficult to see that you suffer from your own greed
You're a slave to property
So tell me how am I supposed to envy you

Luxury consumes you in your self-made cage
In your prison where the bars are made of gold
Yes I despised you but now I pity you
You have everything served and do you know
Your life requires that a portion of the population

Agrees to settle for nothing
The gaps get wider, the rich get richer,
The poor are getting poorer
I am telling you...

From this day beginning now
I will do anything to fight you!

Your life requires that a portion of the population
Agrees to settle for nothing
The gaps get wider, the rich are getting richer,
The poor are getting poorer
I am telling you...

From this day beginning now
I will do anything to fight you!
