What do you want out of life?
Satisfaction for your fragile mind.
Well it seems you're stuck between,
The things you want and things you need...
Well...

When another day goes by and you let it go to waste.
Do you feel that you've done all you can?
Are you convinced that you'll be fine,
That everything will be alright?
It never seemed to matter much to you.

Well you know I'm just like you.
You're not alone because I'm mortal too.
But what do you expect of me?
To forgive your sins with sympathy... ?
Well...

When another day goes by and you let it go to waste.
Do you feel that you've done all you can?
Are you convinced that you'll be fine,
That everything will be alright?
It never seemed to matter much to you.

I've got my own problems so don't put it all on me.
It's your damn responsibility.

I can't mend what you've done wrong,
Get a grip try to move on,
You can't look inside yourself for guidance.
There are demons in your head, just waiting to be fed.
Will you ever break the pattern?
