Sometimes I feel like an unwelcome guest
Making his request
Sometimes I feel like an unwelcome guest

And I can't help but wonder for where I'm bound
With my lost account
I can't help but wonder for where I'm bound

Sometimes I feel like there's something over the hill
Something that can free me
Something I gotta see
It's a heed that never drops
The longing never stops
The longing never stops

Sometimes I feel like I'm almost gone
Like I'm far from home
Sometimes I feel like I'm all alone

And I can't help but wonder for where I'm bound
With my lost account
I can't help but wonder for where I'm bound

Sometimes I feel like there's something over the hill
Something that can free me
Something I really gotta see
It's a heed that never drops
The longing never stops
The longing never stops

And the longing never stops
And the longing never stops
And the longing never stops
