"Before The Fall"

trapped within a web of lies the spider dancing dancing cyandide smiles the devil's wiles this woman slowly entrancing watch the prey it gathers dust it screams an unknown sound graven images and holy light distorting the bloodstains on the ground

(chorus)
lying on a bed of lies you watch the savior fall life you lived so in vain

in the dark of the day within the dead of night your high it seems to last forever your freedom burning bright where memories slowly linger you travel the roadway to sorrow if jesus were to walk today the father would die tomorrow

upon the altar of lust upon the altar of sin the spikes that cleanse the soul they let the devil in seeing the smoke rise before you the blood upon your lips taste the bittersweet love taste the spiders kiss
