

Aeon Sable "Darkriders"

Visit "Darkriders" on MotoLyrics.com

In draconian times long before the light
There was no day - only night
And weared in black a one million riders
Preparing themselves for the fight

In this dark and cold days
One single soldier had fallen from the sky
And he was too strange to be one of them
And was covered over with lies

As no one had ever saw him
They all thought
Someone evil he was
And weared in black a one million riders
They thought should be enough

In draconian times long before the Light
There was no day - only night
And weared in black a one million riders
Preparing themselves for their death.

In draconian times
Long before the light
A one million riders
Preparing themselves for the fight

In draconian times
Long before the light
One million riders
Preparing themselves for the death

Visit Aeon Sable page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.