You hear the woman's voice
Speak of female principles
Words are falling soft and unprotected
From her mouth...
They kiss you empty face
They open up the gate
To the longing in your heart
The urgency you can't define...
(A woman is an enigma)
And the presence of her love
Is reaching from the inside...

Oh, the woman's touch
Oh, the woman's touch
Takes you down to the water's edge
Where the current is stronger...
And the rhythm of life is breathing your breath
As it pulls you under...
And the sound of the waves that crash overhead
Until you roar like thunder...
For the woman's touch...
Oh, the woman's touch...

In the circle of her arms
Time itself is standing still
Releasing all that's past into the present
Ebb and flow...
All that you have been
And all the hurt you've seen
And the woman's voice
Is bringing you more comfort now
(The rush is so familiar)
She's leaving you with no choice
But to cry out loud...

Oh, the woman's touch
Oh, the woman's touch

Takes you down to the water's edge
Where the current is stronger...
And the rhythm of life is breathing your breath
As it pulls you under...

And the sound of the waves that crash overhead
Until you roar like thunder...
For the woman's touch...
Oh, the woman's touch...

Lying safe within the ever moving tide
She draws you back into the endless flow of life...

Oh, the woman's touch
Oh, the woman's touch
Takes you down to the water's edge
Where the current is stronger...
And the rhythm of life is breathing your breath
As it pulls you under...
And the sound of the waves that crash overhead
Until you roar like thunder...
For the woman's touch...

Takes you down to the water's edge
Where the current is stronger...
And the rhythm of life is breathing your breath
As it pulls you under...
And the sound of the waves that crash overhead
Until you roar like thunder...
For the woman's touch...
The woman's touch...
The woman's touch...
