We don't need to wake up so silently, It's operation baked,
Something so alive, We won't die, Slowly here slowly
Running through this dream I've made for myself, Please don't end I'm not ready to go yet, No not Laying in the grass, blue sky, above me thoughts,
Racing through my head why can't I see straight
It's just a dream wake up
Far from reality is where I'd like to be, In my own world
Where everything can be completely set free,
All dreams can come true, my dear...
But in actuality there's, Only some good left here and now
This is what, life should be really like, full of peace,
And forgiveness, no violence, But it's breaking down
This world is breaking down
We are lost, we are gone, we have fallen,
We are gone, we are lost, we have fallen,
Is there hope? Is there hope for us? Is there
We'll have to see how much humanity destroys,
We've disgraced our own kind, and treated others inhumanely,
Is there any hope for us now?
