

After The Tragedy

"Stained-glass expectations"

Visit "Stained-glass expectations" on MotoLyrics.com

Colored shards rain down like misguided confetti
How can something so beautiful cause so much dismay?
Blood drops exclaim their existence
Running hand-in-hand with unending pain
I can do this alone
But why would I want to?
My hands bleed all day long
My mind knows I could never reach you

I've sacrificed friendships
Dismembered family
Thorough everything I gained
I threw my world away
What cost is worth your existence
When everyone you know has gone away

Here I stand broken-hand anger management
I gave my life away
Throw everything away
This time I die to fight I'll reside under twilight
I gave my life away
Throw everything away

Visit After The Tragedy page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.