Relinquish all hope in ever being saved we dwell in false pretense that decides our lives black eyes bleed tears fall long forgotten let me be in my cathedral of pain ignorance we try to feign your silence will rule your days these days youve forsaken every bit of breath how long will i wander through this like my eyes bleed tears blind how could i forget in silence another cross to beat feathers fall from the sky fallen angel unable to fly feathers fall upon saviors back fall silent in your shame can you see in death we bring life to our souls no too late just leave they're all gone
