Today I feel like Ill never be the same
This empty voice I heard from you
Showed me how long
How long ago
In real time it
Was that you left me
Today I felt like I had been lost in time
The same deep words
I used to say I said them twice
Like you would be the same I talk to in my own thoughts
I cant speak my rage, the words you took away
Wonder why these thoughts remain in vane
Its been so long with the blindfold
Tied on my head
I finally rise to see the down of my disguise
I wonder why the hurt grows day by day
Again I rise and yet youre storming deep inside
And then comes the time for the reflection of my conviction
I gave my days, the words you took away
