

Atheist "Fire"

Feeling the heat that captures
The warmth that see the chance
Imagine the stone lit contortion
Sprawling itself at a glance
[Incomprehensible]

Shadows shaded yellow
Both shredded and tapered flames
Reaching at a constant level
Rising, rising, combustion

The blue light at the bottom
Surely sets the stage
For the radiant dancing
If the flares of the sun
Feel them burn

The heat that you feel is friction
Creating a scar that sees
An everlasting reflection
An everlasting appeal
Pain, real pain

Shadows shaded yellow
Both shredded and tapered flames
Reaching at a constant level
Rising, rising, combustion

Surely sets the stage
For the radiant dancing
If the flares of the sun
