You can feel it in the air, a change is gonna come No stone will keep its place, still there's no need to run
I cannot put my heart into one of these tiny boxes
To protect it from the wind and the rain, when blurring my traces

Diving into the ocean, oh
Leaving the playground for good
An unknown destination, mhm
Heading forwards
I feel I am at the starting line

One last look into the mirror, thinking, will I keep my face?
At this point, my bones are weak, will I retrieve my strength?
The journey's almost begun, no one can say what's meant to be
Bidding farewell to a precious path - I lay my fears on destiny

CHORUS

I will never forget what there has been until this day
I will never forget you - I am blessed, but I can't stay
A new chance in a brand-new life is waiting just for me Letting go, but it's not the end - may I find my peace?

CHORUS

At The Starting Line
At The Starting Line
At The Starting Line...
