How long do you wanna hide
In this closet full of old habits?
Surrounded by grey silhouettes (break out)
It's time to release your fears (let go)
Step out into the bright daylight
Just like in your secret favourite show
It's a glittering...nothing unsettling
Rebirth is right here at your hand (you know that)

So let go of these moments
When your life seems far too small
You've been waiting for this day
And finally it's here, you

Come out to play, come out to play
Come out to play, come out to play
Come out to play, come out to play
Come out to play, come out to play

Wake up, raise the level now
To this supersonic shit (raise it)
No one can catch you
'Cause you're way to fast for them (speed up)
They are living in the past
With no intention to ever change
You've always known that you're different
But being different makes us all the same (you know that)

These tears come from happiness
You'll know, at least when you see
All them colours of the rainbow
Have just begun sparkling for you, so

CHORUS

It's about pride and dignity
It's about faith and equality
It's about trust in human kind
Cause far too long the world's been blind

CHORUS 2x
