She could be your daughter, I could be your dog
Influences you can't change, so you try to hate
And all day long you complain about the unfair world
After work you sit on your couch scratching your ass
You watch TV, you sigh, but watch
You say "Oh my god"

Chorus:

Where am I going? I'm reaching for the light
I will be myself, for nothing I would change
Some keep winning, some keep spinning
I don't need your crown
The world is trembling, we're dissembling
Stars are crashing down (stars are crashing down)

There's no sense in meeting friends
'Cause at night you feel so tired
By the way, you don't really like them
'Cause they tend to be depressed

And of course, you're not
You mind the streets where lovers dare to walk hand in hand

Repeat chorus

Extended chorus:

Where am I going? I'm reaching for the light
I will be myself, for nothing I would change
Where am I going? I'm reaching for the light
I will be myself, for nothing I would change
Some keep winning, some keep spinning
I don't need your crown
The world is trembling, we're dissembling
Stars are crashing down

(Stars are crashing down)
(Stars are crashing down)
(Stars are crashing down)
(Stars are crashing down)
(Stars are crashing down)
(Stars are crashing down)
