"When The Love Factor's High"

Tonight doesn't feel like it did last night
I'm feeling warm, if inside
Since I saw your face, since I looked in your eyes
There's a change in this place
I think the love factor's high

When the love factor's high and two hearts collide
You don't even try and that's when you'll find
The one that feels right, one for all time
It's hard to deny when the love factor's high

Sometimes it flies and sometimes it falls
And sometimes your back ends up against the wall
As I hold you close, we dance in time
Yeah, I think I know the love factor's high

When the love factor's high and two hearts collide
You don't even try, that's when you'll find
The one that feels right, one for all time
It's hard to deny when the love factor's high
It's hard to deny when the love factor's high
