When there's a bluebird singing by your window pane
And the sun shines bright all day through
Don't forget boy
Look over your shoulder
'Cause there's always someone coming after you (la la la la)

When everything in life seems just as it should be
At last success seems just around the door
Don't forget boy
Look over your shoulder
'Cause things don't stay the same forever more (la la la la)

Hope springs eternal in a young man's breast
And he dreams of a better life ahead
Without that dream you are nothing, nothing, nothing
You have to find out for yourself that dream is dead (la la la la)

Dead (la la la la) repeat to fade
