Rise and fall, like the tide
My hand goes with your chest
Steady now, moon will pull
A slow and even breath

Outa the blue, the storm rolls in
I see it in your eyes
Thunder strikes, but I will be
A place for you to hide

Your heart rises and it falls just like the waves
The highest point is just before it breaks
I will light a candle for you welcoming
Baby, come home to me

Night moves in
And you can't see, a star up in the sky
Let my voice anchor you
I promise the sun will rise

Your heart rises and it falls just like the waves
The highest point is just before it breaks
I will light a candle for you welcoming
Baby, come home to me

I am standing, on the shore
I am holding a light
I am standing, on the shore
I am holding a light
I am standing, on the shore
I am holding a light
I am standing, on the shore
I am holding

You're heart rises and it falls
Just before it breaks
I will light a candle

Your heart rises and it falls just like the waves
The highest point is just before it breaks
I will light a candle for you welcoming
Baby, come home to me

Your heart rises and it falls just like the waves
The highest point is just before it breaks
I will light a candle for you welcoming
Baby, come home to me

Baby, come home to me
Baby, come home to me
