

Aled Jones

"Without You"

Visit "Without You" on MotoLyrics.com

You were the one who made me laugh
I guess we were moving way to fast
Someone should have told you
Love was just a curse
And when it comes to jealousy
You know you were the worst
Now all I have to live for
An echo in the hall
A broken heart, a memory - and your picture on the wall

Without you, the one I would cry for
Without you, the one I would die for
Without you

I know I was wrong to stay so late
But you made me mad I made you wait
I was only flirting - I didn't want to start a fight
And how was I to know that someone had a knife
I only saw a flash - and then I saw you fall
Then someone started screaming - and you were on the floor

Without you, the one I would cry for
Without you, the one I would die for Without you, the one I would lie for
Without you

I was only flirting - didn't want to start a fight
How was I to know - he would change my life
Somebody should've told me love is just a curse
And when it came to jealousy
Know you were the worst
I am going crazy every moment you're not here
My body keeps on aching, my eyes are full of tears
I just can't stop thinking ,of every thing we had
How come I feel so desperate
How come I feel so mad

Visit Aled Jones page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
