(Jess Cates/Kevin Paige)

We're in a room full of people and you're talking to yourself again
Till you find your closest friend, the door.
Let's take a walk out into the sun, you say why the clouds will come
Just like all the other times before.
And how can you survive on cigarettes and goodbyes?
Does it satisfy, baby?

*Don't go off and hide, so scared of what the world will find.

I can help you if you need it.
You may not care for love, you made it clear, your
mind's made up
But I can make your heart believe it.

It will take your breath away, just try it, you'll be amazed.
It'll bring life to the dead.
You just know, without any proof, it turns lies into truth.
It's the best medicine you can get.
So won't you take my hand, before you slip back there
And get nowhere, baby?

*Don't go off and hide, so scared of what the world will find.

I can help you if you need it.
You may not care for love, you made it clear, your
mind's made up
But I can make your heart believe it.

I can make your heart believe it..
I can't watch you drown, drown, sink to the bottom like a stone.
So unaware, you're even going down, down, you do it so naturally.

*Don't go off and hide, so scared of what the world will find.

I can help you if you need it.
You may not care for love, you made it clear, your
mind's made up
But I can make your heart believe it, I can make your heart believe it.

Let's take a walk out into the sun, I know the clouds will come
But not like before.
