Sunrise to another day
Let indifference pass me by
And I say if everyday is the same
Why fall a sleep to wake up screaming?

We are not the same
We're not to blame
The sun was never even there

Try to understand
Try if you can
The sun was never even there

No surprise you couldn't save the day
Even God's not on my side
But I hold on still to the hope you will
Be gone when I awake from dreaming

We are not the same
We're not to blame
The sun was never even there

Try to understand
Try if you can
The sun was never even there

I've waited so long for a new day to come
But no sun rises

I've waited so long for a new day to come
But no sun rises

We are not the same
We're not to blame
The sun was never even there

Try to understand
Try if you can
The sun was never even there

We are not the same
We're not to blame

The sun was never even there

Try to understand

Try if you can

The sun was never even there

Never even there, never even there

Never even there
