"Only Want to Mend"

Shame, inside you're endlessly disguised
Behind a veil, it's a mask, are you decaying?
You can't hide from me
I see more than you think
You're not fooling anyone
For all this and more I sang to you
I set you free

Same old thing haunting me
I only want to mend
Same old shame taunting me
I only want to mend

So tame what's caused this misery
Become so damned impatient, confide in me
But don't say it's you that's lied to me
I bleed more than you think
You're not fooling anyone
For all this and more I sang to you
I set you free

I swear it wasn't me that day
I couldn't see, although I tried too late
Child, so afraid now
Because I don't see it all your way

Say all that you will
I'm still waiting here
Shall I wait for you?
I can't continue to...

Take a moment just to breathe, then collect me
Want to mend
