

Alesana

"A Gilded Masquerade"

Visit "A Gilded Masquerade" on MotoLyrics.com

As the water drips from the sky,
I start to wonder if I'm still alive
Then I have to find an answer.
Could it be that it was a dream,
And I'm still beside her?
Right before my eyes
a tragic surprise
The water stops.

Wickedness will rain,
And drown us in her sorrow.
(Sorrow, we will drown)
If I hope to survive,
I must think faster.
I'm losing ground.
(I'm losing ground)

Should I pull back her veil?
You had the best of me.
(The best of me)
All that glitters is not gold.

I may be wrong but your brilliance is my darkness.
You had me convinced.
(You had me convinced)
That together we could fly.
Until I started scratching at the surface.
(And my body is your masquerade!)
Your body is an illness.

Temples crashing down all around me
Heading...
(Heading towards me bring)
The golden city falls,
And with it our lives go up in flames
(Go up in flames)

Should I pull back her veil?
You had the best of me.
You had the best)
All that glitters is not gold.

I may be wrong but your brilliance is my darkness.
You had me convinced.
(You had me convinced)
That together we could fly.
Until I started scratching at the surface.
(And my body is your masquerade)
Your body is an illness.

(Oh shall we...)
He is watching me under
My blood runs cold.
There's no need to feel alone
I feel like throwing myself

Who are you, who are you, who are you?
Yeah!
Hey! x8
Hey! x8

I pull back the veil.
You had the best of me.
(You had the best)
All that glitters is not gold.

I may be wrong but your brilliance is my darkness.
You had me convinced.
(You had me convinced)
That together we could fly.
Until I started scratching at the surface.
(And my body is your masquerade)
Your body is an illness.

I may never be the same again.
(I may never be the same again..)

Visit Alesana page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.