We knew it from the start
That we would be together in some way
You needed me and you know I still need you back

Don't get the wrong idea
We both know what this is and how it ends
But I can't wait to share all this with you

Let's run away where they won't find us now
We'll hide far away and we'll be free, just you and me

The time will go so fast
But we will savour every moment that we share
And I will give myself to only you

And when we go back home
We'll count the days till I can run with you
And see your face and fall asleep for one more night
