My friends caught on
I didn't expect it
So I had my fun
And now I regret it

But now it's just gone taken over
My head, my thoughts are wrapped around
Who you're doing now

I never thought that it would change
Now everything's different
I'll rearrange
My expectations
Will not be the same

We go heartbroken from the promises
Running around this town like you wanted it
The cover up, the noise, the new boy
I'm finding it hard to take
Your new wave

Thought we were cool
They never showed up
I broke the rules
It's time to grow up

But I can't stop wondering about it
The pieces don't fit, and I'm confused
I believed you

I never thought that it would change
Now everything's different
I'll rearrange
My expectations
Will not be the same

We go heartbroken from the promises
Running around this town like you wanted it
The cover up, the noise, the new boy
I'm finding it hard to take
Your new wave

And I can
But I won't
Cause I tried
And I finally see
What you are
And you know
What you meant to me
Yeah it hurts
And I'll find
What it is I need

I'll tell you how it's gonna change
