I think is time to start again
What claim to enter like a long lost friend
I could never be your pedestal
Don't tell me where to start
Yeah you never really left a mark

I've got a photograph of you
I'm tearing it wide open
Broken like you left my heart
When everything is new
I'll be chasing circles
Trying to find a place to start

Just when you think it never ends
The window opens and you start again
Brought in from the cold ineffable
Don't let it come too soon
This picture of another room

I've got a photograph of you
I'm tearing it wide open
Broken like you left my heart
When everything is new
I'll be chasing circles
Trying to find a place to start
