

Alex Valentine "Light Years"

Visit "Light Years" on MotoLyrics.com

Many miles between us yet you are my rising sun further from me than Venus, I'm in oblivion.
Like winter I inch towards you
but it feels too far to know
if I'm any closer to closing the distance
or I've still got forever to go...

I'm still light years from you in some far galaxy
but I'll jump over your moon for you, you see it's easy
who do I have to be?

There's always tomorrow there's a will & there's a way.
Why should I steal what I can borrow?
I need you for one day.
Like winter I inch towards you
but it feels too far to know
if I'm any closer to closing the distance
or I've still got forever to go...
I'm still light years from you in some far galaxy
but I'll jump over your moon for you, you see it's easy I'm still light years from you, I'll never be in your
league,
what do I have to do for you to notice me?
who do I have to be?

So if you want it come and get it, you never know, this could be electric if we let it why not let the power flow? You know I like you...

I'm still light years from you in some far galaxy
but I'll jump over your moon for you, you see it's easy I'm still light years from you, I'll never be in your
league,
what do I have to do for you to notice me?
who do I have to be?

Visit Alex Valentine page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.