Invite me or not - I will enter anyway
Resist me or not - I will sculpt you all the same

You are the soil opened for a grain
An empty canvas that begs for paint

Both venom and opium I am
Drink of me while you can
Call me madness or the redeemer
It's inconsequential for I am neither

A nightmare this is but in dreams meet we not
This window to reality you can't nail shut
In your eden within I am the tree of sin
The point where speech ends and echoes begin

Aberrant at heart, you must be erased
The rigidity of mind - by progress replaced

Both venom and opium I am
Drink of me while you can
Call me madness or the redeemer
It's inconsequential for I am neither

On a paintrip to the center of existence
The concept of commonness loses all meaning
A piece of broken glass on evolution's path
It is now up to you: re-shaped or removed
