Yeah, on the brink of madness
Drowning in hell, I'm tryna' live while I'm at it Shattered matters flatters stress, she's so attracted to me

When I know she's gone, she comes right back,
Can't catch breaks not even a slight crack Stuck in the hole then I dig myself even deeper when I try to fight back
I kick in the door and it leads to more,
What's the key to life?
I'm falling off, split the floor, traveling at the speed of light, light

When you told me everything would be alright, I believed it.
But you left me alone here in the dark to be defeated.
You've gone, so far away
But I made it through, and I'm standing here today
(Standing here today)
I see the sun, after the rain, yeah
Yesterday is dead and gone is (dead and gone)
At speed of light my life goes on, and on

Cause how much more must I withstand
Before I can rise and fly so high to the point Where I can put this world in my hand
Wanna ride till I die, but I can only go so far,
'Til what's left of my fuel is gone
Running on E,
Only things left is faith and passion at its purest form

When you told me everything would be alright, I believed it.
But you left me alone here in the dark to be defeated.
You fell, so far away (so far away hey)
But I made it through, and I'm standing here today
(I'm standing here today)
I see the sun, after the rain, yeah
Open my eyes and now I know,
That you were with me all along

I'm alright
I'm OK
