This bleeding heart keeps calling
Can't stop my world from falling from falling, from falling, from falling
apart

I made myself sick today I'm slipping away and seem to stick to the gates I laid myself down to sleep
It's hard to wake up
When you have fallen to deep

I've eaten myself up Believing I'm someone
But something's hide and something's left and done

This bleeding heart keeps calling
Can't stop my world from falling
from falling, from falling, from falling
apart

This bleeding heart keeps calling
Can't stop my world from falling
from falling, from falling, from falling

I promised that I wouldn't feel Keeping what's real My heart is not made of steel There's no escape, no return
As far as I know, I'll never leave

Been waiting for so long Betrayed and on my own
'cus I help lead a game that can't be won

This bleeding heart keeps calling
Can't stop my world from falling
from falling, from falling, from falling

This bleeding heart keeps calling

Can't stop my world from falling
from falling, from falling, from falling

This bleeding heart keeps calling
Can't stop my world from falling
from falling, from falling, from falling
apart
