"The Land Beyond The Forest"

I walk through the hills and march down the plains so many years but I was always free deep in my heart I remember the timeÂ... oh father,
how could you endure this fate?

I will stand for
I will fight for
I die for the land beyond the forest

Oh yes,
I will complete what you have begun
I will face my destiny oh father, I won't fail my final mission

The greenest grass, the whitest snow I breathe the air, I absorb the land so cold the wind, so high the mountains I will never forget this fascination, this closeness, this familiarity
This familiarity I will never forget in life or beyond death

I will stand for
I will fight for
I die for the land beyond the forest
