So when did you decide to take over my life? To make me a slave, and take my family out from under me.
I fought for years because of you.
Take so many lives to save my own.
So if you have a reason you better speak up now.
It seems you have been hiding all this time.
Telling everybody you're their savior, when all you wanted was to take their lives.
Do you know all the suffering that I've been through?
All the faces that haunt me?
I'll never be able to sleep again.
I lay awake in my bed thinking about what I've done to live.
So if you have a reason you better speak up now.
It seems you have been hiding all this time.
Telling everybody you're their savior, when all you wanted was to take their lives.
This is your last chance. So give me a reason to believe you.
You only get one chance so give me a reason to believe you.
You only get one chance so give me a reason to believe you.
No more running away.
It seems you have been hiding all this time.
Telling everybody you're their savior.
When all you wanted to do was take their lives.
