[ORIGINAL BY WEEZER]

Yesterday I went outside
With my momma's mason jar Caught a lovely Butterfly

When I woke up today
And looked in on my fairy pet
She had withered all away
No more sighing in her breast

I'm sorry for what I did
I did what my body told me to
I didn't mean to do you harm
But everytime I pin down what I think I want it slips away - the ghost slips away

I smell you on my hand for days I can't wash away your scent

if I'm a dog then you're a b*tch

I guess you're as real as me maybe I can live with that maybe I need fantasy a life of chasing Butterfly

I'm sorry for what I did
I did what my body told me to
I didn't mean to do you harm
But everytime I pin down what I think I want
it slips away - the ghost slips away

I told you I would return
When the robin makes his nest but I ain't never coming back I'm sorry, I'm sorry, I'm sorry
