ooooh oh oh oh x3

When will the princess figure it out that she ain't worth saving

Heavy the head that bears the crown

Of my mistaken empathy, sympathy

I was never good enough to be anything but a remedy

To all of your constant pressing needs

And I never learned, so

I painted a picture of the things I wanted most

To color in the darker side of all my brightest hopes

But there was a monster standing where you should be

(So I'll paint you wings x2), (and I'll set you free x2)

oooooh oh oh oh x2

I was a pawn in all of your plans, you kept me busy

Locked behind your chamber doors when you felt frisky

Until you got sick of me

I was never good enough to be anything but a remedy

To all of your constant pressing needs

And I never learned, so

I painted a picture of the things I wanted most

To color in the darker side of all my brightest hopes

But there was a monster standing where you should be

So (I'll paint you wings x2), (and I'll set you free x2)

When will the princess figure it out, she ain't worth saving

And when will the world get over all her misbehaving

Will we ever learn?

I painted a picture of the (things I wanted most x2)

To color in the darker side of (all my brightest hopes x2)

But there was a monster standing where you should be

(So I'll paint you wings x2), and (I'll set you free x2)

(So she can fly away)

I painted a picture of the things I wanted most

To color in the darker side of all my brightest hopes

But there was a monster standing where you should be

(So I'll paint you wings x2), and (I'll set you free x2)

(So you can fly away)
