I am nothing
Very small at very best
And if I have any rest, it'll be in you

If I know you
Why don't I know what to do
It's like I'm spinning in circles around you

And I cry, without tears
Has my heart run dry

You remind me that I'm tearing in two
The one man starving to death, the other one in you You sustain me
with dreams of infinite skies
Where I will effortlessly fly, because the wind is you

You're the sky
I'm just fear that I'll never come alive

But you're true
as the day that I die
I'm wrecked, lost in your eyes
