Someone Else Â– Allegro

It's time to change, there's no looking back, I'm for real this time, u gotta make a change...

Right now it's time for action addicted to making it happen Flipping the scratch now picture that oh they miss you mast u Â–u know they will for this one crack sale U can see me stranded in hell landed in jail ' with my black mail in hail got a deep concussion from busting no back stubbing hustlers selling my drugs just to get my riches as far is my vision IÂ'm wishing IÂ'd live my life a little different

[CHORUS]

People staring at the mirror facing someone else others doing what they shouldn't, it was someone else peopleÂ're lying cause theyÂ're trying to be someone else it is not you I see with that guy, must be someone else

Staring at the world through my rear view got to keep an eye open searching for a clear view I hear you screaming to god but he can't hear you [x2]
you said he brought us this far look weÂ've been through you said he brought us this far look what weÂ've been through is it fortune and fame now we stuck in the game I spit my soul on this track so you can feel my pain

It's time to change I don't want to blow out my brains No more looking in the mirror pointing fingers like I'm a player
