Another night I've tried to fall asleep, but your words keep on ringing in my ears My faith is gone and I can barely speak. And this is the way it stayed so many years

If I died tonight, would you regret those words you said
to me
That you thought were right
If I died tonight would you just forget everything you said and hold it
deep inside

I just can't seem to find my way to bed
And all these passing hours, they repeat
And knowing how you feel, and what's been said It's time to pack my bags again and leave
If I died tonight would you regret those words you said
to me
That you thought were right
If I died tonight would you just forget everything you
said and hold it
deep inside

On and on I fall. and I can't seem to win at all Knock me down and I'll still crawl.
You will never call.

If I died tonight would you regret those words you said
to me
That you thought were right if
If I died tonight would you just forget everything you
said and hold it
deep inside
