It's gonna take a while just to feel this sunlight on my skin

Cause I've been hiding in the darkness Behind a door that no one gets to come in
And I'm not sleeping

It's gonna take a while just to notice
This empty space by my side
Cause I've been dwelling on something
And struggling to find some air to keep alive
And I'm not sleeping cause of you

I've been dying to know what's on your mind
And I've been dying to hear your voice.

It's gonna take a while just to take it in.

Cause everything's moving so fast
It's gonna take a while just to break you in
And I've been hoping that this love was built to last
And I'm not sleeping cause of you

I've been dying to know what's on your mind
I've been dying to hear your voice
And if I had a choice, I'd make some noise so the world could hear me
Could they hear me now that my feet are on the ground?
And I'm wide awake, I'm wide awake tonight
And I'm not sleeping... anymore
