I've been all around the earth to many different places
Spoken in tongues to many different faces
And after I couldn't communicate the beat was my language
Bridging divides between days of our lives

What are you gonna do now
What are you gonna do now

I've been all around the earth to many different places
Spoken in tongues to many different faces
Let's gather round now to discuss what our future lies Think if our eyes could see a day where we could meet half way
Compromise because tomorrow lies in your hands

What are you gonna do now
What are you gonna do now
What are you gonna do now
What are you gonna do now

Are you someone who judges one by their colour
Do you know a man who lives to control another
Suffering in silence when you should speak out Scream out, shout it out

What are you gonna do now
What are you gonna do now
What are you gonna do now
What are you gonna do now
