When you're out of my sights you're out of my mind
When you sit next to me your body screams for mine
I watch your mouth while I lick your lips
I say, God, what should I do?
I ask God what to do

It's getting late, my love, and you're on my mind
You kiss my legs while you scrape my hands
But some things change, I can't explain
You've gotten inside me
Now you're inside me you got my belief

Change
You got my belief
Change
Out of my belief
Change
You got my belief
Changed

Now it's later and the weather is hard
I know for sure now you've nothing I want
Or rearrange and I realize that forever's not so clever
Forever's never clever

Change
You got my belief
Change
Out of my belief
Change
You got my belief
Changed

Night has fallen, our door is closed
The lights are low for the closing show, you
Undraw me like this might just last
But this farewell love to you is through a champagne

Glass
Through a champagne
Glass
A champagne

Glass
Through a champagne
Glass
