When you wake up in the morning
And you stroke your hand through your hair
And you go to look in the mirror
But there's nothing really there

Darling darling superstar
Darling darling superstar

So you went to live in
The expensive part of town
In a flat on the twenty seventh floor
Since your way up
It's been a long way down
And everything seems such a bore
You used to drive around in fancy cars
Hang around all the cafe's and bars
You never got to bed before eight
Was it so hard to stand up straight

Darling darling superstar
Darling darling superstar

I remember you from a long time back
And the way you used to be
You filled some up, you sucked some out
Your vampire mentality
Your last role when you played the burglar cat
Just creeping inside the magicians flat
Just to take a peek inside his hat
It was said that curiosity killed the cat

Darling darling superstar, Darling darling superstar
Darling darling superstar, Darling darling superstar
You are
