There something about you
that make me strange, you change
my mood my attitude and control me so for that baby you know i
love you
when im broke down you're there
on my feet, you a real good friend and
you know that i love you.

you know what to do to me when im not feeling right, you can make me laugh and show me a good time, sometimes you get me angry but you always change that around, there somethin about you that has an affect on me i don't know what it is but whatever it is i don't wanna leave!!!

when im broke down you're there
on my feet, you a real good friend and

if you weren't with me i wouldn't know where i would be right now, you hold me down and you're legetimate to me, you know that our connecetion is on that strange level but, that level made us closer and made me love you more!!

There something about you
that make me strange, you change
when im broke down you're there

we have it like that and we love it like that what's strange with this i tell you this, we love each other and we just met we have it like that (like that) and we love it like that (like that) and what's strange (what's strange) we love each other and we just me-eeeeet!!

(fades out)
