In the blink of an eye, sparks fly and fires die
Some things weren't meant to last.
No you won't be the first to break that heart of hers, and you won't be the last

So...let her go, let her go, let her go
Let her go, let her go, let her go

She'll get over it in time
One less burden on her mind
It'll hurt a little bit
But she'll get over it
When those tears dry from her face, someone else will take your place
She'll be over you
For good

So...let her go, let her go, let her go

You try to tell her goodbye
Oh no your mouth goes dry
And your heart starts to sink
When you look in her eyes
Oh you just might be surprised
She's stronger than you think

So...let her go, let her go, let her go
Let her go, let her go, let her go

She'll get over it in time
One less burden on her mind
It'll hurt a little bit
But she'll get over it
When those tears dry from her face, someone else will
take your place
She'll be over you
For good

Make up your mind
You can't take forever
She'll get over you in time

So let her go, let her go, let her go

She'll get over it in time
One less burden on her mind
It'll hurt a little bit
But she'll get over it
When those tears dry from her face, someone else will
take your place
She'll be over you
For good

She'll get over it
Let her go, let her go, let her go
