There is a tremendous lover who would like to share
His wondrous love story with all those who would care
To listen to his still small voice, he doesn't like to yell
And if you stop and take a chance, I know you'll hear him tell

I, your soul's friend
I, your soul's love
I, your soul's hope
I wanna be your soulmate, your soulmate

The search it will continue leading you down many roads
It seems very attractive but in truth you're very alone
It's a trick of deception of clever placed distraction
Leaving your spirit earth bound, never to soar

I, your soul's friend
I, your soul's love
I, your soul's hope
I wanna be your soulmate, your soulmate, I

There is a tremendous lover who would love to share
His wondrous love story with all those who would care

I, your soul's friend
I, your soul's love
I, your soul's hope
I wanna be your soulmate, your soulmate

I, your soul's friend
I, your soul's love
I, your soul's hope
I wanna be your soulmate, your soulmate

I, your soul's friend
I, your soul's love
I, your soul's hope
I wanna be your soulmate, your soulmate, I
