I can't guess why this is over, you wore me out straight to the core

And you're left falling harder than you've ever felt before

But these days will come to rest and it is something to be said

Just when I thought I knew I was so in love
I would die for you, I would give it up
Just to feel your warmth, you're nervous as we touched
Just when I thought I knew I would be the one Coming into you as our hearts raced on
I can see the truth, I know it is you, it is sad, but you seem better when I'm gone

I can't say that I have ever felt this way any time before
With your lips, it gets harder, to the point of no return

But these days will come to rest and it is something to
be said

Just when I thought I knew I was so in love
I would die for you, I would give it up
Just to feel your warmth, you're nervous as we touched
Just when I thought I knew I would be the one
Coming into you as our hearts raced on
I can see the truth, I know it is you,
it is sad, but you seem better when I'm gone

And all of these words I can't relate
I'm seeing this ship go down in flames
Find a space where we belong
It gets harder to move on
And all of these words I can't relate
I'm seeing this ship go down in flames
Find a space where we belong
It gets harder to move on

Just when I thought I knew I was so in love
I would die for you, I would give it up
Just to feel your warmth, you're nervous as we touched

Just when I thought I knew I would be the one
Coming into you as our hearts raced on
I can see the truth, I know it is you,
it is sad, but you seem better when I'm gone
