Hey there do you know what it takes to care? i just want you to know who i am but i don't think you'd understand i'm trying so hard to make it but you're gonna have to let me to this one for myself you could never understand what it is to care you could never understand what it is to feel i sit here and wonder if i'll ever heal wonder if this relationship will ever be real you could never under the things that you say never understand if it's not your way i sit here and wonder if you'll ever change

'cause i'll never hear the words you say and i know i'm not all right and i can't stand another fight you're so close but you seem so far it hurts when you disapprove of all the things i wanna do

all right

ok
all right
ok
